B2B MARKETING MANAGEMENT

INTRODUCTION

As you may know, Flamenco Agency mainly offers services (tailor-made flamenco shows) for other business partners such as opera houses, theaters or arts organizations. Therefore, in order to create a successful marketing campaign, it is essential for marketers to understand the characteristics of B2B markets as well as their buying behavior which are greatly different from those of B2C.

Stone et al. 's business to business buying model

BUSINESS MARKETS

Unlike B2C markets, B2B markets normally have fewer customers but concentrated buying power and a greater total value in overall.

The relationship between buyer and supplier is special in a sense that it requires seller to keep close contact with its buyer for a long period of time.

A personal selling approach through email or phone call is regarded as a more powerful tool to offer promotion or sales to business customers than mass advertising campaigns.

BUSINESS BUYER BEHAVIOUR

The decision-making process is carried out by different people with different roles as shown in figure above.

INITIATORS: request something needs to be purchased.
USERS: use product/service and may propose to buy.
INFLUENCERS: influence the buying decision such as technicians.
DECIDERS: decide product requirements or suppliers
BUYERS: are authorized to select suppliers and negotiate buying terms.
GATEKEEPERS: prevent sellers from directly contacting some members of buying center.

TIPS

CONTACT THE RIGHT PERSON FOR BETTER RESULT!

As mentioned earlier, knowing who involves in the business buying process and their roles and influences are crucial for marketers. So let's try to find the most influential person in opera houses, theaters or arts organizations that you want to contact. For big opera houses, they probably are artistic directors, music directors or artistic coordinators. For small organizations, you may need to contact a CEO, director or operating manager to present your sales offer.

SERVICE MARKETING

INTRODUCTION

When creating a marketing campaign for a service firm like Flamenco Agency, marketers should be aware of the nature and characteristics of service as shown in the figure below: Intangibility, inseparability, variability and perishability.

Four service characteristics according to Kotler & Armstrong

SERVICE LOGIC

Due to the unique characteristic of service, marketers are recommended to obtain service-based business logic which is:

"To facilitate processes that support customers' value creation"

Christian Grönroos

TIPS

- Keep in close contact with customers to ensure all processes of the service provided are well-supported.
- Emphasize service quality and service support in promotional emails to enhance customer's attention and engagement.

EMAIL MARKETING

INTRODUCTION

Email marketing is defined as a fusion of marketing savvy and imaginative copy that basically, the sales pitch and call-to-action emails are sent to a list of clients. Moreover, email can be used for marketer's various purposes since it is a very effective and widely used marketing communication tool. Its roles in B2B marketing are also emphasized as an influential strategy. Even when response rate is low (which happens sometimes), email marketing is still assessed as profitable method with great returns on investment and high level of engagement.

More details about how to make an effective email marketing campaign are discussed in the following pages of this marketing manual.

REFINE & REPEAT

RESPONSE-BASED PLAN

Since customers may react differently to your email, it is recommended to divide customers into different groups based on their response behavior.

- Don't open: subject line should be revised for better customer's attention or resend email in another time.
- Open, don't click: continue follow-up this group with more impressive description and explanation of the values offered.
- Click, but don't act: extra offer or incentive should be given to customers
- Do act: follow-up to close the deal and send complementary offers or new offers later

EMAIL DESIGN

2 inches

The top 2 inches of an email is regarded to be the most important part which is usually called "above the fold". The above the fold of an email is normally displayed in the email preview pane before customers have to scroll down.

ABOVE THE FOLD

Fold line

2 seconds

is the time you have to attract readers by your email's above-the-fold part.

10 seconds

is the time you have to attract readers since they have opened your email.

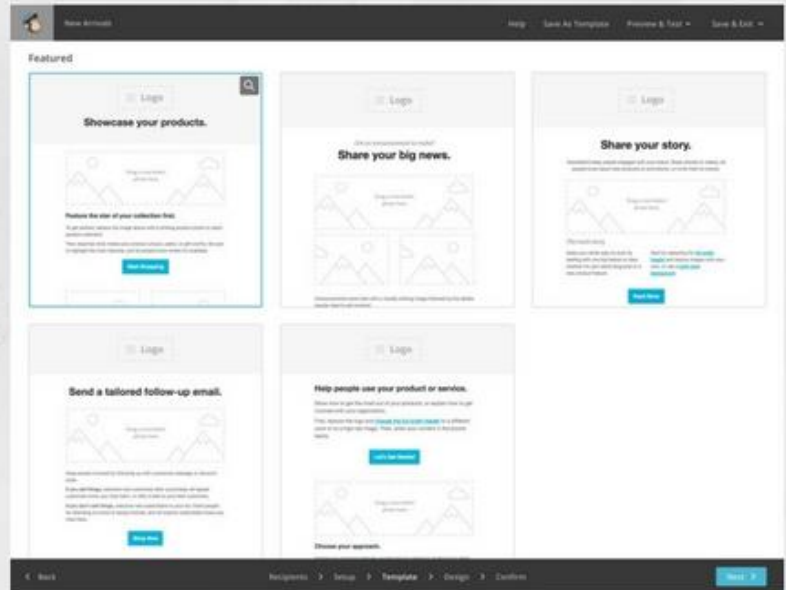

EMAIL DESIGN

EMAIL DESIGN IN MAILCHIMP

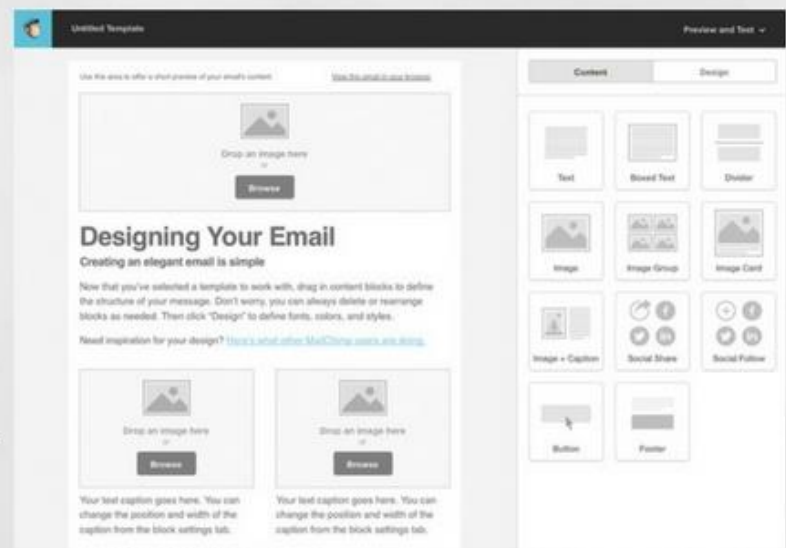

READY-MADE TEMPLATE

When using Mailchimp to design your email, you are able to use its ready-made templates which created based on different purposes of email. It is a quick and useful tool when you want to create your email template in a short period of time. However, if you want to make your email more impressive and creative, you are encouraged to create your own ones.

CREATE YOUR OWN TEMPLATE

When you want to create your own template, what you need to do is drag features (images, columns, graphic button, etc.) from the right box and drop them in your template. Since the features have already been displayed in your email, click or double-click on each of these features for further adjustments and customizations.

EMAIL DESIGN

Insert Flamenco Agency's logo to enhance brand awareness and brand credibility

Most important content should be placed on the left. Readers will scan your email from upper left to lower right

Headline should be big, bold and placed in the top 2 inches of email but should not be oversized because important information other than headline should also be displayed for customer preview

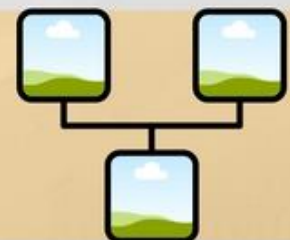

Make it easy for readers to scan and skim email by highlighting important details such as value offer, call-to-action or attached links.

Large enough spacing, bold style, large font, image or graphic button are considered to be useful highlighting tools.

Do not overuse images in your email: do not send emails containing only images
The rules of thumb for images: ~ 30% of images
Keep image files small and compressed

Textual links inserted in email should be blue and underlined for the best visual effectiveness.

DESCENDING ORDER OF IMPORTANCE!

Important information must be mentioned earlier while less essential one can be placed later in the lower part of email.

STAY focus

There is limited space on template so it is better to stay focused on what is truly important.

BE RELEVANT!

Inserted links should direct readers to relevant pages, not general homepage, to keep customers from wasting their time finding what exactly the offer is.

TARGETED & PERSONALIZED!

You may send emails to thousands of subscribers but on their point of view, it is only one-to-one section so let's try to make targeted and personalized email copy.

APPROACHABLE & ENGAGING!

Tailor your language used in email to match with your specific clients.

BE ACCURATE!

Make sure that all information you mentioned in your email is accurate (spelling, grammar, price, contact details, etc.).

RICH MEDIA CONTENT

Email can be blocked because of large images or video attached so a link to a site where your clients are able to see or download those videos should be inserted.

TIMING & FREQUENCY

10 -11 AM READER'S LOCAL TIME

There are many discussions about the best day to launch email campaigns; however Tuesday is all regarded to be the best day of the week when open rate is recorded as the highest. You can also send emails on Monday or Thursday to get the positive result. On the contrary, Friday is marked as underrated and open rate is the lowest on Saturday. If you have to send email on weekend, let's do it on Sunday night.

During a day, from 10 - 11 AM (reader's local time), open rate is recorded as the highest and it is the time when you may want to send your email.

Make your follow-up plan carefully because you don't want to spam your clients but also don't want them to forget you. If your unsubscribe rate unexpectedly increase, you may want to revise your plan of email frequency.

SALES & MARKETING

INTRODUCTION

When emails marketing are used for the main purpose of obtaining customer acquisition, the linkage between sales and marketing becomes closer. Marketers now play an important role in part of sales process. In this case, marketers are advised to cooperate with salespeople or sometimes in small to medium-sized firm like Flamenco Agency, marketers can also take responsibility of salespeople.

SALES FUNNEL

- At first, leads are generated from company's offline network and online social network such as landing page, Facebook, Instagram, Vimeo, LinkedIn, etc. This lead generation can be qualified and nurtured by sending them promotional or story telling emails.
- From a list of high potential leads, prospects that show their interest in company's products or services can be identified then qualified for further approach. Classification criteria used in that qualification process can be financial situation, geographical condition or development possibilities.
- Once qualified prospects are successfully convinced, salespeople should close the deal to convert them to customers. After that, follow-up emails can be sent to them concerning complementary offers, new offers or loyalty improvement.

TIPS

- ✓ For better sales result, continuously use follow-up email to nurture qualified leads and prospects. Do not spam their inbox but at the same time do not let them forget who you are and what you can offer them.
- ✓ For nurturing leads, you can send story telling emails to get their attention and make them interested in the art of flamenco dance.

CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

Customer satisfaction bases on customer experience and how their expectations are replied. Basically, customers are satisfied when their expectation has been fulfilled.

Different levels of customer satisfaction influence their repeat purchase intend as shown in the figure above. Repurchase rate is significantly high when customers are very satisfied. As a result, an effective way to boost buyers repeat purchase rate is putting enough effort to make them from medium level of satisfaction to very satisfied.

CUSTOMER LOYALTY

Behavioral loyalty bases on the level of recency of purchase, frequency of purchase and monetary of purchase. Lower score of those variables refers to weaker customer loyalty and vice versa.

Attitudinal loyalty bases on attitude elements such as beliefs and feelings. Levels of loyalty also affect customer retention as shown in figure above. Depending on client's relative attitude and repurchase rate, they should be divided into 4 gorups: loyals, latent loyalty, spurious loyalty and no loyalty.

TIPS

CLASSIFY YOUR LIST OF CUSTOMERS INTO THE APPROPRIATE GROUP!

In order to enhance customer retetion rate through your email campaigns, you may want to classify them into different groups based on their level of satisfaction and loyalty.

Customers who are "so so" satisfied and satisfied are considered to have vague difference so you may want to group both of them in 1 group instead of 2 so that a same strategy can be applied for them.

Be conscious to define whether your clients belong to group of truly loyalty or spurious loyalty.
